Learning in the Outdoors

*R*espect *R*esponsibility *R*esilience

At Tweedmouth West, learning in the outdoors is an integral part of school life.

The children spend a day every week in our Forest School, where the curriculum is taught in a creative and active way.

We are very fortunate to have such an amazing outdoor space. We have a large open field area, a fire pit, wooden huts, a pond, gardening area, orchard – and of course, lots of trees.

The children have so many opportunities to learn in this outdoor area, and they very much enjoy being outside where they can work on a bigger scale.

There are many benefits to working outdoors, and at Tweedmouth West we feel that this is vital for children's health and mental wellbeing.

We are adapting our curriculum in order to follow current COVID 19 government guidelines. To keep our staff and children safe we are working as much as possible in the outdoors
